

“Coming from a corporate background, I was never directly involved with the debt collection process; it was always undertaken by someone in Head Office with absolutely no connection to the debtor. However now owning our own family business, it is my responsibility to recover bad debt. Being in a small town is often tricky to recover debt as more often than not we know the people well that we are trying to obtain the overdue funds from. A friend of mine recommended Gary & we have used his services for close on 2-years. Gary understands the sensitivity of our situation & handles the process in a dignified manner. His results more often than not happen without having to take the “next step” & his fees are very reasonable. Gary keeps us updated every step of the way which is very important in our business as we often don't have time ourselves to follow it up.

Debt Collection can be tricky, but with Gary & his team, they keep it simple.”
