

I was introduced to Gary from SADR by a close mate who had done a lot of research into debt recovery. Gary offers a no nonsense approach to dealing with outstanding debt and delivers upon his word. I had outstanding money owed to me for a considerable time so I decided I would use the services of a debt collection agency. Gary was the perfect fit, he helped with all proceedings which allowed me to focus on my actual work and not following up clients. The result was a success! I would recommend the services of Gary at SADR, and will certainly use him again in the future.
